EDWIN SCHREIBER IS CO-PARTNER IN A CLEVER CHAIR INVENTION

We note with interest the following item, from the Saginaw Courier-Herald of recent date:

"Edwin W. Schreiber, who is now professor of science in the Yuma Union high school, Yuma, Arizona, and Ed. O. Klemm, 707 Lyons street, have just completed their first models of a unique chair which has all the necessities of a modern library or an up to date office. The original idea was conceived by Mr. Schreiber while he was attending the University of Ann Arbor in 1910, when he saw his fellow students using the arms of a rocking chair on which to support their drawing boards. He took his school chum, 'Ed' Klemm—who is a draftsman—into his confidence and they set out to make a chair which might easily be the only piece of furniture in an office or library.

"Model at Last Perfected"

"A number of models have been made, but not until a few days ago was one completed which measured up to the standard for which it was planned. Its outward appearance resembles that of a Morris chair, it being without a chair of comfort, with a roomy, soft-cushioned seat, and a back rest easily and quickly adjusted to any desired inclination, while in a sitting posture. It has, likewise, armrests of sufficient area to be of use in writing or in placing thereon articles of temporary service, a magazine compartment for current literature and a book-shelf which may serve as the 'shelf de luxe' of the reader, or reference shelf for the professional man.

"Sliding boxes are set in the upper part of the front legs, which can be used for card index files or other purposes that suggests itself. These boxes are equipped with lock and key. As the legs are hollow and closed at the bottom, the space beneath these boxes can also be used.

"Another striking feature is the adjustable book holder, pivotally mounted on a swinging bracket, securely fastened to the front leg. On the holder are two ledges, the upper to be used as a dictionary or directory stand and the lower for general reading—the upper ledge folding back when reading a large magazine or newspaper. The lower edge is equipped with two leaf holders and when in its lowest position the holder may be used as a writing or side table.

"A sliding compartment on the under side of the book holder, in which stationery may be placed, is an added convenience.

"There is a swinging support opposite the bookholder suitable for a typewriter, dictophone, telephone cabinet stand or side table—and, being perfectly rigid, does not allow vibration.

"The unique construction of the back rest forms pockets in which may be placed back numbers of current magazines, pamphlet and clippings, and, as the chair is not supported on castors, it can be moved about very easily.

"Whole work shows careful, scientific study and is an innovation which will be welcomed by thousands. It is not only serviceable, but attractive as well, and is the business man's private office, the scholar's and minister's study, the technical man's laboratory, and the reader's library. The chair has been named the 'Eskwin' chair, cleverly derived from the combination of the initials of the partners and the first models are now being made at the plant of the Opportunity Manufacturing Company."

The success of the enterprise is assured, as a Saginaw concern carrying over two million in capital stock has taken the agency and is now widely advertising the chair, and Mr. Klemm is now placing the models with dealers all over the East.

Mr. Schreiber leaves in June for San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Portland, where agency offices will be established.

Patents have been applied for on the design, and also on the special features and now further developments will be awaited with interest.

DICK STANTON HAS VOLUNTEERED SERVICES

(From Tuesday's Examiner)

Dick Stanton received a letter this morning, from J. W. Heard, adjutant in command of the Southern Department of the U. S. army, stating that his services might at any time be needed. Mr. Stanton volunteered his enlistment several days ago, and considers this pretty close to a call to the front. He is personally acquainted with the adjutant, having been under his command during the Spanish-American war, and as he has had war-time experience in the Philippines, as well, he may be in line for a commission in the army in the event of an invasion of Mexico.

Five auto loads of road enthusiasts left at 8 o'clock this morning to review the work done on this end of the new Imperial valley road. From twelve to sixteen miles was made, and three of the cars had returned to Yuma at 11 a. m.

The new road is a splendid improvement over the old road, and the time made by all the cars was excellent. The Riley and Eddy cars, with engineers in them, went on to Tumco, and had not yet returned late this afternoon.

O. C. Johnson, in his big Thomas car, took the local newspaper men and Hon. Jim Kerr out, making a 25-mile trip in two and a half hours.

COURAGEOUS MAN NEEDED

Every day makes it more apparent that a calamity overtook the nation when the democratic traitors defeated sterling old Champ Clark for the presidency. The country at the present time is surely in need of such an experienced, courageous man in the president's chair as the gallant old speaker of the House.

PECULIAR MARKSMANSHIP SAVED LIFE OF OTTO MILLER LAST NIGHT

(From Tuesday's Examiner)

As a result of the shooting melee, Otto Miller is suffering from some very painful flesh wounds, and Gus Butler, of the U.S.R.S., is at present in the custody of Sheriff Greenleaf.

Butler is in charge of the government camp stationed on the new railroad grade, and Monday Miller applied for a job on the work. Upon being refused, he made the statement that Butler would rather hire Mexicans anyway. Other than that, no quarrel is known to have taken place. Later in the evening, Miller was in the Bismarck when Butler walked into the

FIRST APRICOT OF THE SEASON CAME TODAY

The Examiner has just finished eating the earliest apricot in the world, April 22. The specimen was large and round, and delicately tinted—a perfect type of Yuma's excellent fruit—and over a month in advance of Apricots grown in other parts of this terrestrial sphere. No poetical attempt at eulogy will be made; although, being the first apricot of spring, it is worth considerable mention.

The fruit is from the splendid orchard of O. P. Card, at the end of the city limits, and Yuma is proud of the distinction gained by early fruits.

CONDITIONS MUST BE COMPLIED WITH

(From Tuesday's Examiner)

To the citizens who have labored faithfully to secure for Yuma a free mail delivery system, the following communication, received at noon today, will be most welcome news; read it and rejoice!

Yuma, Arizona, April 21, 1914.
W. H. Shorey, Daily Examiner,
Yuma, Arizona.

Sir:
I am in receipt from the First Assistant Postmaster General, authorization for the establishment of free delivery service at this office, effective June 22, 1914.

The establishment of this service by the department is made conditional upon the compliance by the patrons who desire this free service by carrier of the following condition (quotation from department's authorization):

"It is the policy of the department to make the establishment of city delivery service at new offices contingent upon the provision of private mailing boxes or receptacles at all residences or places of business. If a patron prefers he may cut a slot in the door, which will serve the same purpose. Please notify all prospective patrons at once of the mail receptacle requirement and advise this office of the progress made in the compliance thereof, not later than fifteen days prior to the date fixed for the establishment of the service. It must be distinctly understood that no patron will be served unless he provides some means for the disposal of his mail at or near the front door. Authority to establish the service may be withdrawn or its institution postponed if patrons fail to provide boxes."

Respectfully,
A. T. PANGRAZI,
Postmaster.

OCOTILLOS DEBATE ON TEST FOR SUFFRAGE

(From Wednesday's Examiner)

The Ocotillo Club enjoyed one of the most pleasant and profitable afternoons ever spent, at the home of Mrs. R. G. Stitt, on Second avenue today. After a short business session, a very enjoyable debate was featured. The question disagreed upon was "Resolved, That Suffrage Should Be Restricted by an Educational Test." Mrs. Squire Munroe, leader of the affirmative side, put up a very strong talk, well prepared, and one which showed a great deal of thought and concentration. Mrs. Garvin, however, in behalf of the negative phase of the question, put out an effort ably delivered and well received.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Dunbar, Mrs. Lane and Mrs. Stitt all spoke on the affirmative side; while the negative was supported by Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Harlow and Miss Post.

The decision was then brought forward by the judges—Mrs. Bert Cloyd, Mrs. J. M. Hess and Mrs. A. F. White—in favor of the negative.

A social hour was then enjoyed, during which the debate was the principal topic of conversation. Delicious refreshments, consisting of ice cream and cake, were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Harlow.

RIGHT MAKES MIGHT

"Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith, let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it."—Abraham Lincoln.

CITIZENS NOW READY FOR EMERGENCY CALL

(From Monday's Examiner)

Pursuant to call, two hundred of Yuma's leading citizens and business men assembled in the City Hall last night and organized the Home Guards. This is an admirable move for community protection, and the interest shown was strong.

W. F. Timmons was made president of the organization, and Walter Riley secretary, while City Marshal Henry Levy was elected captain, further officers to be appointed by him. All will provide themselves with guns and are in readiness at a moment's notice to answer to the call to arms should an emergency case occur here.

The organization is a strong one; a system of signals has been determined upon and a meeting place designated should the need of action occur—an this step is a much-applauded precaution.

At present, companies H and L of the N.G.A. are stationed at various points of prestige between Yuma and the Mexican line, acting under orders from headquarters, and in the event of anything which might come up Yuma will at least be prepared.

Special Correspondence)

The Yuma Woman's Club met Saturday afternoon, April 18th, with Mrs. Dickinson, on Fourth avenue.

The lesson, "Measure for Measure," was ably led by Mrs. Chas. Smith. Roll Call, "Habits," was bright and interesting.

During the business hour of the meeting, a vote of thanks was tendered the public in general, who so generously aided the ladies of the club in making their benefit ball such a pronounced success. Special mention was given Mr. Demund for his reduction on the rent of the hall for that night; for the excellent music, rendered free by the Three-Link orchestra; for the generosity on the part of the Morning Sun in donating tickets and printing, also the Yuma Ice company for ice to provide ice cold punch. Expenses were thus reduced to a minimum, and the ladies netted, clear, one hundred and seventeen dollars and twenty-five cents, which amount will be expended at once on lights and seats for Sunset park.
